Noodles

Noodles are one of the most popular foods in Asia. Some Asians even eat noodles every single day! People around the world like eating instant noodles from Japan and laksa from Malaysia very much. Many people think that noodles come from Japan. However, it was the early Chinese who made the first noodles from wheat 2400 years ago.

Q23 What is the main idea of the text?

Q24 From paragraph 2, we know that _____.

Q25 Why did Monofuku Ando invent instant noodles?

Vocabulary

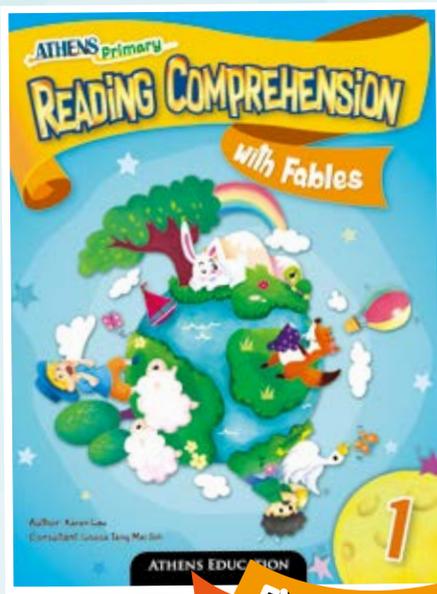

- laksa (n.) – A Malaysian dish of Chinese origin, consisting of rice noodles served in a curry sauce or hot soup
- monk (n.) – a member of an all-male religious group that lives apart from other people in a monastery
- soba (n.) – Japanese noodles made from buckwheat flour

Recommendations

Dr Louisa Tang Mei Sin, Consultant

This series is written specifically for Hong Kong primary school students. Many of the fables contain valuable moral lessons, which can help students develop positive virtues and live a life of integrity. The well-known stories are familiar to the students so they should find the comprehension exercises accessible. With the help of the vocabulary and the QR codes, students can complete the exercises independently and use the books as a self-learning tool.

Ms Candy Hui, English teacher at Bishop Ford Memorial School

Do you want to practise your reading skills and learn moral lessons at the same time? By doing a series of comprehension exercises through reading meaningful fables and fairy tales in Reading Comprehension with Fables, you can kill two birds with one stone.

Ms Wong Hoi Ting, English teacher at AD & FD POHL Mrs Cheng Yam On School

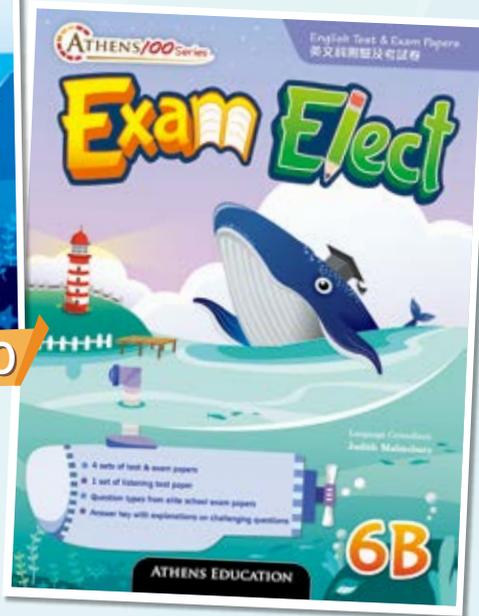

These books are not only reading comprehension exercises. They are the fables for fostering children's positive values and attitudes. I would highly recommend this series to teachers and parents who recognise the need to have right values and emphasise the reading skills development.
