Reading Passage

Text-type Analysis

Like writing a personal letter, you usually state your purpose of writing at the beginning of an email.

Anna is reading an email. Read the email.

Hi Anna,

I'm so happy that you can come to winter camp. Candy and I discussed the details of the camp yesterday and we would like to see what you think.

We will meet at Tai Wai Station at nine o'clock on the first day. Candy and I plan to have breakfast together, so we will get to the station at eight. You are welcome to join us. Then we will take the train to Wu Kwai Sha Youth Village. 5

We checked the website of the village last night. The campsite provides a lot of interesting facilities. I want to try the rope course and Candy wants to try the archery. There is a swimming pool too, but I think it is too cold to swim in winter. As there are ten of us, we can also book a room to sing karaoke. As for meals, we can eat at their canteen or we can have barbecue. 10

I am sure we will have great fun in these three days. Tell us what you want to do during the camp. 15

Best wishes,

Fred

Reading

Mable is reading a play script. Below is a part of it.

(Jenny has just walked out of a café. A girl comes to talk to her.)

- Diana : Excuse me! Where is the bookshop?
- Jenny : It's not far away. I am going there too to buy a notebook. Let's go together!
- Diana : That's very kind of you! I am Diana. I moved here two days ago.
- Jenny : Nice to meet you, Diana. I am Jenny. I grow up in this neighbourhood. Let me tell you about the shops around here. 5
- Diana : That will help a lot! I am still unfamiliar with the neighbourhood. This shop has a large cake-shaped signboard next to it.
- Jenny : It's Anna's Cake Shop. I often go there to buy birthday cakes for my family and friends. 10
- Diana : Great! My sister's birthday is coming. Maybe I can buy her a birthday cake there. Is there a gift shop around?
- Jenny : Yes. Cross the zebra crossing in front of the cake shop. Turn right and walk straight. It is between a bakery and a clinic.
- Diana : Great! I will go there to buy a birthday card and present after getting a pen from the bookshop. 15
- Jenny : I'm afraid you can't do it today. It is close every Tuesday.
