The wolf decided to join the workshop. As he was about to make the call, he found an old sheepskin under a tree.

The wolf thought, 'If I put on the old sheepskin, I can eat the sheep easily! I don't have to join the workshop!'

The next day, the wolf dressed himself in the sheepskin. He looked like a real sheep! He saw the shepherd's sheep on the grassland. He walked towards them slowly.

'Hey, the grass over there is fresher! Shall we go there together?' the wolf asked one of the sheep excitedly.

'Take me there, please!' the sheep replied joyfully.

The wolf took the sheep to a quiet place. Then, the wolf took off his sheepskin and caught the sheep!

The wolf put on the sheepskin again. 'Let me catch one more sheep!' he thought.

The 'sheep' went back to the flock of sheep. Suddenly, the shepherd arrived. She looked at all the sheep. She picked up the fattest sheep. In fact, the sheep was the wolf!

'You look so big! I'm sure your meat is very delicious!' the shepherd said to the wolf happily.

The wolf was frightened! 'Help! I don't want to be the shepherd's dinner!' the wolf thought.
