A Fiona is reading a web page about chocolate. Read the web page.

Something about Chocolate

Where does chocolate come from?

Chocolate comes from cocoa beans, which grow on trees in the forests of South America. It takes 400 cocoa beans to make one pound of chocolate. Cocoa beans have a bitter taste. When people make chocolate, they add sugar and milk to make it become sweet.

Health benefits of chocolate

- The smell of chocolate can help us to reduce stress because it increases our brainwaves.
- Eating dark chocolate every day can help to reduce the risk of heart attack by one third.
- Chocolate contains a large amount of antioxidants, which can prevent or slow down damage to the cells in our body.
- Chocolate can help to lower blood pressure and increase good cholesterol.
